Clinical Trials

Research and Innovation offers a comprehensive approach to carrying out clinical trials in the Capital Region of Denmark, enabling industry to find collaborators for clinical trials in the Capital Region's hospitals.

Feasibility

Research and Innovation can assist with the feasibility process by helping to find centres to perform specific clinical trials for a company or sponsor. This involves establishing contact with researchers able and willing to collaborate with industry on a clinical trial in the role of investigator.

Contacting potential investigators

A multifaceted approach is used to contact potential investigators and involves:

- Creating initial contact between industry and potential investigators
- Visiting potential investigators to conduct an introductory interview to gather specific knowledge about the suitability of the centre for specific clinical trials

Research networks

Research and Innovation can help establish contact with specific specialist research networks in the Capital Region. Joining networks such as forums for discussing clinical trials professionally can be advantageous when commencing a clinical trial and may serve as a good resource for finding researchers/centres interested in participating in your project.

Evidence of success

Over the last 2-year period the number of clinical trials has increased by 2.6 times.

Furthermore, Trial Nation has, as the first in Denmark, become an Associated Partner on a project of IMI (a EU public-private partnership funding health research and innovation).

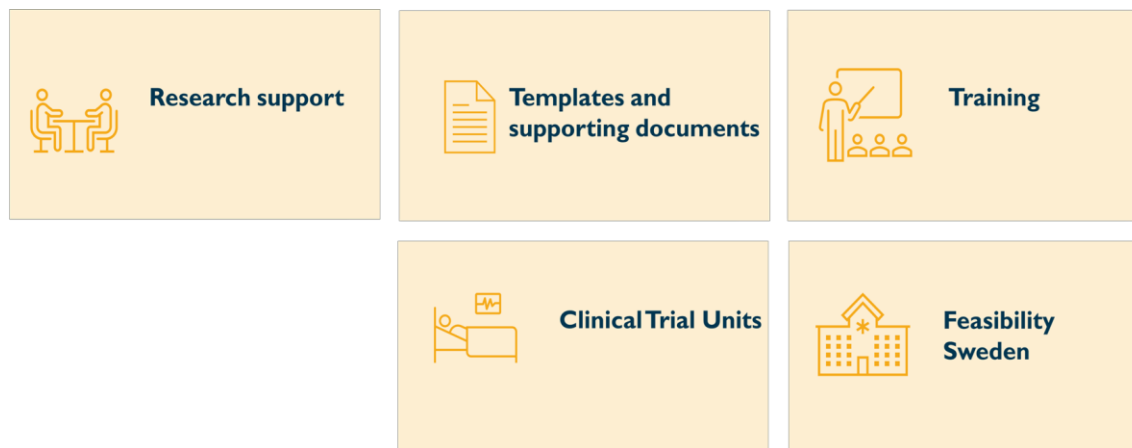

Trial Nation builds on a Clinical Trial Office from 2012 in the Capital region which became a NEXT (a national Pharma partnership) in 2014 -2018.
